

Research

Search and find literature

- always start your search for literature in the literature search engine "Discovery-Service" of Anhalt University of Applied Sciences
  - you can search scientific sources inside and outside our library holdings, the search includes printed and online media, including journal articles
- for a search in our library holdings you can still use our local Online-catalogue \(OPAC\)
- in our University bibliography you can find scientific publications of our faculty and staff members
- online publications of the university can be found on our repository "Share it"
- Literature that is not available in your own or other local libraries can be ordered from another library via Interlibrary loan
  - use the Common Union Catalog (GVK) for online interlibrary loan
  - if your search in the GVK does not find what you are looking for, you will be redirected to the interlibrary loan system
  - if the desired literature is not listed there either, please contact the team of your campus library
- you can also get to the literature you want quickly and directly via express delivery services that are subject to a charge, such as "Subito"
  - ordered books or journal articles will be sent within a few days directly to your desired address
- use the "Electronic Journals Library" (EZB) to search for freely accessible and licensed electronic journals
  - service for the effective use of scientific full-text journals on the Internet
  - journals are sorted by subject
  - access to full-text articles is indicated by different colored traffic light symbols

- for in-depth scientific research, access to articles is indispensable. For this purpose, please search in the “Database Information System” (DBIS)
  - access possibilities are marked in the short title lists by corresponding symbols
