

Guideline to Anhalt University's Open Access Publication Fund

Anhalt University of Applied Sciences offers an Open Access Publication Fund. The following criteria apply:

- If other third-party funds are available for Open Access publishing of the article/paper (incl. partial funding), these must first be exhausted.
- Only publications for which a member of Anhalt University is listed as the "Submitting Author" or "Corresponding Author" are funded.
- The article/paper must already be approved for publication.
- The journal must apply a quality assurance procedure recognized in the field (usually peer review) and be listed in the Directory of Open Access Journals (DOAJ) or in SCOPUS.
- Only publications in pure Open Access journals that are accessible free of charge on the Internet immediately after publication are eligible for funding (pure, "golden" Open Access journals).
- Funding is provided in particular for publications in journals with IF > 1. Priority is given to the funding of doctoral students at Anhalt University of Applied Sciences.
- The publication must contain the following note:

"We acknowledge support by the Open Access Publishing Fund of Anhalt University of Applied Sciences."

If available, other project numbers and funding organizations must also be named.
